DOUGLAS ATTORNEY GENERAL?

A Report That He has Been Appointed to the Unexpired Term.

Bob doesn't know a thing about it, but is willing to admit that he will accept if the place is tendered him. He thinks, justly, that it is too much of an honor for a young man to refuse. The Raleigh Post this morning says:

It is learned that Governor Russell will give the unexpired term of the office of attorney general to Mr. R. D. Douglas, of Greensboro, son of Justice Douglas, of the Supreme Court.

Attorney General Walser has not yet given his resignation to the governor, but he announces that he will do so before the week is at an end.

Mr. Douglas is a recent graduate in law. He is a well equipped attorney and his friends say he has a bright future before him.

The appointment is only for two months. The attorney general-elect, Hon. R. D. Gilmer, will assume the duties of his office about the middle of January.

Sold Three Presents for One Bride.

Caldcleugh Bros. recently sold a handsome, large, $16.50 lamp for a bridal present. Pretty soon another gentleman came in to purchase a bridal present. He selected and bought a beautiful $20 lamp, of similar size to the other. After a while another gentleman in quest of bridal presents came along. He bought a $25 lamp. Mr. Caldcleugh afterwards found out that all the lamps were purchased as presents for the same bride, who lives in another section of the State.

Church Choir Goes Rabbit Hunting.

Mrs. George B. Muse, organist at Westminister Presbyterian church, gave a rabbit hunt this afternoon complimentary to her choir.

Ladies and gentlemen of the choir took part in the chase. There will be a rabbit supper this evening. The hunt took place in the vicinity of Mr. W. O. Stratford's place.

Messrs. J. M. Walker and W. E. Bevil have sold the Greensboro Spoke and Bending Company's works to Foushee, Smith & Co., the firm composed of Mr. Giles Foushee, George A. Smith and J. H. Whitt.

These gentlemen propose to enlarge the works and run them at their full capacity.

Supreme Deputy organizer J. H. Primrose, will reorganize Guilford conclave of improved order of Heptasophs tomorrow evening, at 7:30 o'clock. About 15 new recruits will be initiated and there will be an election of officers. It is important that all members be present, at Dr. Wyche's dental parlors.

NOW FOR A STREET RAILWAY.

TWO PARTIES [illegible] AFTER FRANCHISES AND [illegible] BUSINESS.

The Board of Aldermen Will be Called Together Tomorrow Night to Meet the Parties Asking for Franchises — Parties Conflicting and There Will Likely be a Fight—Both Sides Say they Mean Business.

At the solicitation of parties seeking a franchise for the construction of an electric street railway in Greensboro, Mayor Taylor will call the Board of Aldermen together in special session to consider the propositions of two parties, each claiming that they are anxious to put in a road at once. The meeting will be tomorrow night.

The two parties are antagonistic to each other and are sparring for points. They are represented by citizens of the town. The Telegram is asked not to give the names of these until the fight comes off, which will be before the Aldermen tomorrow night. Each side has canvassed the individual members of the Board, and doubtless received answers satifactory to each.

There is no knowing what will happen before the interested parties clash. It is to be hoped, however, that we are to get a railway out of one or the other. This remains to be seen Each side is confident that their plans are fully matured, and that their people would be ready to begin work at once.

JUDGE SHAW AFTER LYNCHERS.

Goes Behind the Work of the Rutherford Grand Jury and Issues Bench Warrants far Six Men.

Judge Thomas J. Shaw, of Greensboro, is holding court this week in Rutherfordton and is shaking up things there. Says a special from that town to the Charlotte Observer:

The grand jury failing to find any true bills in the lynching case which they have been investigating for the past few days, Judge Shaw issued bench warrants for six of them yesterday afternoon, and the sheriff and deputies are now on the hunt for them, but at this writing none of them have been found. Three of the grand jury are summoned to appear as witnesses. The judge told the grand jury that he should untangle the matter and that he intended to do so.

The judge has also made an indictment against the county commissioners for not having had the jail repaired. He said the grand jury had been reporting the jail unsafe for more than 10 years. This judge has stirred things up in this county. The jail was guarded all last night for fear, I suppose, that a mob would take the negro woman from jail—the lynched negro's wife.

WEDDING LAST NIGHT.

Miss Emily McDowell and Mr. W. S. Timberlake, of Virginia, the Contracting Parties.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized last night at the home of the bride's mother on Lyndsay street, the contracting parties being Miss Emily McDowell and Mr. William Sims Timberlake.

The bride wore a beautiful creation of white, with a brooch of pearls at her throat, which belonged to her great-grandmother. She was given away by her brother, Mr. Ed. McDowell. The beautiful service of the Episcopal church was used, the solemn words which made the two one being spoken by Rev. Mr. Meade, of Clover, Va.

Mr. Chas. Harrison, Miss Grace Clary and Dr. Charles Roberson were the attendants, with little Miss Mabel Clary as torch bearer.

After the ceremony had been performed the party repaired to the dining room where a sumptuous repast had been prepared. The happy couple left on the north bound train on a visit to Mr. Timberlake's parents, in Clover, Va.

The widow of the late Peter Gay, the proprietor of several establishments in Mexico City, is the real owner of the diamonds seized by the United States customs officials in New York. She gave them into the hands of Senor Preza for sale in the United States and claims he never meditated fraud against the American customs regulations. They never belonged to Emperor Maximillian or Empress Carlotta.

Telegraphic News Today.

A tragedy involving the death of a prosperous physician and an unidentified woman occurred in the Boulevard hotel in New York this morning. Their bodies were found in a room in which the gas had been turned on. In the doctor's pocket was a two ounce bottle of cocaine.

Four Americans said to be from New York, and carrying American naturalization papers, were arrested recented at Diabekir, Turkey, charged with complicity in a revolutionary plot. After efforts to make them confess, they were crucified in mockery of their christianity. Ropes were used instead of nails, and after they had hung head downward for three hours and were silent, they were thrown into prison.

The Paris Matin this morning prints an interview with the Chinese minister to France, who says that Li Hung Chang and his colleagues can do nothing but lie and intrigue to save their heads, and that the news of peace negotiations are false.

An imperial edict, says a Shanghai dispatch this morning, has been issued depriving Prince Tuan and Chwang of all their rank and turning them over to the imperial clan court.

Dispatches received at Chicago say that the worst storm of the season is raging throughout the Northwestern States. Street railways are blocked up by snow, and railroad traffic is delayed throughout Montana and the Dakotas.

Although the censorship was removed this morning at Manila, General MacArthur has ordered all dispatches to be submitted to him before being sent off.

The Empress of China, arrived at Victoria, brings advices from Manchuria that the massacre by the Russians of several thousand Chinese was in retaliation for the killing of 200 Russians by the Chinese before the outbreak of hostilities.

NARROW ESCAPE OF SCHOOL GIRLS.

The Virginia College Goes up in Smoke and the Girls are Forced Out in Their Night Robes.

Roanoke, Va., Nov. 14—Virginia College, an institution for young ladies, situated just outside the city limits of Roanoke, was totally destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. It was a short while after the rising bell had been rung, when it was discovered the hallways of the big building were filled with smoke. The young ladies were notified to lose no time in getting out of the building; to stop for nothing. The word was quickly passed around and the young ladies, 150 in number, made their way out, many of them thinly clad, hardly any with anything more than the simplest costumes of the bedroom. There was little confusion and no great excitement. As soon as men reached the scene they cheerfully loaned their overcoats to the girls in light costumes. Some of the neighbors in the meanwhile brought blankets, and the girls who had the least clothing went into nearby houses.

The fire started in the boiler room, exactly how is not known. It made quick work and in less than two hours the building was entirely destroyed. The desks from the business office and a few articles of furniture was about all thot was saved. The building was of brick and fitted with all modern conveniences. The loss is $75,000, with about $35,000 insurance. The building belonged to Miss Harris and Mrs. Boatwright. The students will be kept together in Roanoke a few days until it is decided where the school will resume.

Religious Items.

Mr. W. B. Holcomb, of Mt. Airy, who has been assisting in revival services in this city for several weeks, left at noon for Macedonia, where he will assist Rev. A. J. Burrus in a protracted meeting.

The meeting at Proximity still continues. Much interest is being manifested. Rev. V. L. Marsh will preach tonight at 7:30.

COURTSHIP DONE BY MAIL.

MARRIAGE OF A COUPLE WHO WERE ENGAGED BEFORE THEY MET.

The Courtship Was Carried on by Mail Between Tennessee and North Carolina. The Couple Met Here a Week Ago and Having Decided That They Were Satisfied With Each Other, Were Happily Married.

A happy marriage under peculiar circumstances occurred here at 6:30 last night. It's hard to decide whether it was a highly romantic affair or a purely business one. The former view appears most likely. Read and see.

Miss Sadelia A. Butcher, of Knoxville, Tennessee, a friend of the family of Mrs. F. H. McHaffie, of this city, who boards at Mrs. Dick's on West Market street, and Mr. William E. Reich, of Winston, are the happy couple. The bride is twenty-four, the groom twenty-two. Some months ago a friend of the bride, who was an acquaintance of Mr. Reich, began writing of the young lady to Mr. Reich, and through the instrumenta ity of the friend Mr. Reich and Miss Butcher began a correspondence. It ripened into a courtship by mail and a conditional engagement. They had never met. They agreed to come to Greensboro to see each other, where, if each liked the other as fully and as satisfactorily as the correspondence indicated, they were to be married. The young lady came here about a week ago and stopped with Mrs. McHaffie. Mr. Reich visited here several times during the week.

Presumably their former good impressions were all confirmed, for last eveninn at 6:30 they were married. The bride was handsomely dressed in white and was presented with a diamond ring by the groom. Rev. Dr. F. H. Wood officiated. The happy young folks, "strangers once," but good enough friends now, left on the evening train for Winston, where they make their home.

At the Academy Last Night.

"Why Jones Left Home" was played by the Una Clayton Company last night to a good house, this being the last performance of their three night's stay. The repeated applause abundantly testified to the excellence of the performance. Manager Morey stated that they would play a return engagement here some time in January, at which time they will doubtless be greeted by a full house. The company left this morning for Danville, Va.

Bride and Groom Here.

Mr. J. C. Ellis and bride, who were married at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Aberdeen, arrived here at 10 o'clock and spent the night at the home of the groom's brother, Mr. S. R. Ellis, on Davie street. They left for Washington at noon, where they will spend a week before returning to Aberdeen, where their home will be. The bride was Miss Loula May Pleasants.

The Spinster's Convention Promises Well.

Communicated.

The Spinrter's Convention at Guilford College on the 16th, bids fair to excel all others in attendance and interest. Word has just been received that Jessica Juliet Smith, of Lego, Portia Olivia Bennett, of Charlotte, Florence Arabella Large, of Littleton, and Martha Elvia Blathers, Brick Church, will be in attendance. Sophronia Arimenta Long, of Summerfield, and Deborah Ruth Sharp, of Thomasville, will also likely be present.

Let everybody come to the convention and especially those who feel the need of a hearty laugh and a good time.

A burglary occurred at Statesville Tuesday night says a special to the Charlotte Observer, which for boldness was unsurpassed. About twelve o'clock the policeman saw some one moving about with a light in Mr. J. N. Lamprecht's store. He called to know what the man was doing and was told that Mr. Lamprecht was paying him $1 a night to stay in the store. The policeman noticed that the glass in the front door was broken, and just then the light was put out and the man ran.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1900.

WE ARE GOING AHEAD OF VIRGINIA.

Nothing shows so forcibly the transition from the old to the new in the South as the relative progress being made by North Carolina and Virginia. The New South is ateem with all kinds of industry, particularly cotton manufacturing. In this development we have outstripped the "O.d Dominion," which, being of a different population, was slower to adapt itself to the new conditions. The result is shown in the relative growth of population. In 1810 Virginia had the same number of population that North Carolina had in 1860; today North Carolina has more than Virginia. Since 1860 North Carolina's population has increased nearly 100 per cent., Virginia's, in the same time, has not increased quite 2 per cent. In 1820 Virginia had passed the million mark, and has not yet, in eighty years, reached the second million point. No census before that of 1870 gave the Old North State a million, and today, only thirty years thereafter, it has nearly reached the second million mark. The figures cause the Virginian-Pilot to remark:

The real problem before the people of this State is not political, but industrial; it is not the contraction of its suffrage, but the expansion of its commerce; not a reduction in the number of voters, but an increase in the number of thrifty citizens. What is the matter with Virginia? She does not look too much to a glorious past; she does look too little to a future that shall rival it.

North Carolina learned these important truths thirty years ago, hence her 100 per cent. against Virginia's 2 per cent. increase in population. The Virginian-Pilot delicately puts Virginia's reason for slothfulness in taking on the new impetus.

THE TRUST QUESTION POSTPONED.

A fews days ago the Philadelphia Record had a most significant cartoon, inspired by the rise in the price of meat, said to be due to the meat trust. The picture was entitled "So Soon," and represented the trust as a beast with its hand holding down a quarter of beef, demanding more than the poor man, standing by with an empty dinner pail, could pay. This suggests the question of what will be the effect of this administration upon trusts. The Republican party is founded upon the principle of special privilege. It therefore retains the friendship of all those agencies which desire such privileges. The people largely understand this, and it is their chief source of antipathy to the Republican party. But they felt this year that they were compelled to vote to keep that party in power. It is quite certain that the party will come to the conclusion that the opposition to trusts by the Democratic party was one of the things so overwhelmingly condemned, and will therefore feel under no necessity to take any steps on the trust question.

Taking this view, we do not expect to see the next four years bring us to a much better understanding of the question than the country now has. The Republicans of influence believe, as a general rule, in the principle of trusts, and are therefore disposed to give them free rein, if not encouragement. They will, therefore, take no step towards further investigation of the subject. The opposition, taking the view that all trusts are evil, will continue upon that line, and so firmly fixed in that opposition are they, that they will see no alternate than a scheme of legislation which will wipe all trusts out of existence. Thus, unless something happens more than has in the past few years, trusts will go on increasing as they have, and we shall come up to the next presidential campaign in about the same frame of mind as at present. Good, bad, or indifferent trusts will continue to flourish in Mr. McKinley's administration. They would have done so had Mr. Bryan been elected. but we should have had enough fight on them and discussion and airing of their business as would have put us in a better position to know really what position to assume towards them.

The Honorable Thomas Settle is about to outgrow the Republican party of North Carolina. If the party dosen't make some advance towards liberality, and get out of its chronic smallness and vindictiveness or Tom dosen't begin to shrink up, there's surely going to be a bursting of the ties that bind them.

The President at last has a cabinet that suits him well enough to keep all the time.

TORTUED FOR HIS MONEY.

Burglars Put an Old Man on a Stove for the Purpose of Forcing Him to Tell Where His Money is.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Dispatch, 13th.

Being under the impression that he had wealth hidden away in his lonely home, three unknown men early this morning horribly tortued John Kane, an aged man, of Sugar Notch, in an effort to extort from him the hiding place of his supposed savings. Kane lived in a lonely spot of Sugar Notch, and earned a sum daily by picking coal from the clum banks and selling it to his neighbors.

During the early morning the three burglars broke into his abode and demanded the old man's money. They were told that he had none. They searched the house, thoroughly demolishing the furniture, and tore up the floor of the house, but could find nothing. Then the three men began torturing Kane. First they burned his legs, but the old man persisted he had no money. Finally the men threw Kane on the stove, but could get no admission from him that he had any wealth, and they departed, leaving him lying on the floor. Kane was found by neighbors and taken to a hospital in the city. There is a chance for his recovery.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The City Treasurer, on account of the unavoidable delay in the collection of the taxes which were due on the 1st day of October, 1900, finds himself at present short of funds, but by reason of the public spirit and accommodation of the Southern Stock Mutual Insurance Company and the Underwriters of Greensboro, I am able to announce that the said companies will cash at their face value all interest bearing warrants issued since September 1st, 1900, by the city to school teachers, policemen and other city employees, when they are in the hands of the original holders and do not exceed $100 each, provided that this order does not hold good after $3,000 has been expended in cashing the said warrants.

Next to the Consumer is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking spot, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price is now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

And ours is the place to get the stuff.

TOM SETTLE OPPOSES THE PLAN

HE THINKS SENATOR PRITCHARD SHOULD NOT OBJECT TO SIMMONS.

Says That if This Contest to Keep Simmons from His Seat is Brought it Must be Done on Grounds Which Will Shut Out Republican Congressmen Also—Plan is a Dangerous One.

The following is an open letter from Hon. Thomas Settle to Senator J. C. Pritchard, urging the latter to take no part in opposing the seating of Hon. F. M. Simmons as successor to Marion Butler in the United States Senate:

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 13, 1900.

Hon. J. C Pritchard, Marshal, N. C.:

My Dear Senator: Having, like yourself, the interest of the Republican party at heart, national and State, I trust you will not misconstrue the motives prompting me to address you this letter.

The results of the November election speak for themselves, to the intelligent mind. I understand from various sources, official and unofficial, that it is the policy of a number of gentlemen composing the Republican organization of this State, through you as Senator, to protest against seating Mr. Simmons when he presents his credentials as Mr. Butler's successor. I am opposed to that policy and hope that you will not give ear to it. I see no good in it to the Republican party of the State. On what grounds will you object to his being sworn in, and ask the reference of his credentials to the committee on privileges and elections? The case of Roberts from Utah is not applicable. You cannot establish anything against Mr. Simmons, personally. You would therefore have to base your case on political and legal, or politico-legal issues to-wit: North Carolina had not at the time of the election of the members of the Legislature which elected Mr. Simmons United States Senator a republican form of government guaranteed by the constitution, and, therefore, said Legislature, so elected, had no power to elect a Senator. Suppose you succeed in convincing a majority of the Senate that the contention is sustained by the law and the facts, what then? Mr. Aycock would immediately appoint Mr. Simmons to fill the vacancy, and your fight would have just begun. You would, in the language of my lamented friend, General J. M. Leach, only have "entered the the vestibule of attack." Could you continue the fight upon the ground that Mr. Aycock, the governor himself, elected under the same law, had no power to appoint a Senator to fill a vacancy? Again, should you succeed, if the United States or State Supreme Court should, upon a contest growing out of any act of the present Legislature, sustain such a decision of the Senate, "where, oh where?" The returns of the November election as compared with those of the August election show great gains by the Republican party. The August election and the November election were held under the same law. If we had no republican form of government in August, we had none in November. Our laws were the same in each election. If the credentials of the members of the Legislature can be investigated and set aside by the United States Senate upon the allegation that there existed no republican form of government at the time they were elected to the Legislature, and, therefore, it declines to admit the man this Legislature has elected to represent the State, have not gotten the State and the Republican party in a very awkward position? How can you assault the credentials of Mr. Simmons and not assault the credentials of every Congressman from the State, including those of Moody and Blackburn, Republican members from the eighth and ninth districts? If the electon of either is under the condition of the non-existence of a Republican form of government, the same is true with reference to all our national representatives. You cannot maintain that Blackburn and Moody were elected under a republican form of government and that Simmons, Kluttz, Kitchin, Small, et al., were elected under a non-republican form of government. I am not Mr. Simmons' champion. I suppose I had as much to do with the opposition to his confirmation as collector of internal revenue as any living man in the State. My opposition was political, and as I was then in a contest for a seat in Congress with Mr Williams, and Senator Ransom was taking sides with Williams, I made the fight in behalf of the Republican party, and to give Senator Ransom something to attend to at home.

If this issue is made, how will it be done? Clearly on the ground of the UNIQUE ORNAMENTS.

Pretty Plaques That Can Be Made of Plaster of Paris and Colored Pictures.

A burst of ingenuity seems to have centered itself in a new plaster of paris plaque. It has come as a welcome way of preserving some of the exquisite colored heads and floral pictures which we yearly have sent to us on calendars. A little good taste and considerable nimbleness of fingers is all that is required, in addition to an agateware pieplate, some plaster of paris and water, a knife, a bit of tape and a curtain ring, with a pretty colored picture which has been neatly cut out from its background, and a bottle of gilt paint. These various things are then handled in the following way: At first the plate should be filled with water, which, however, is soon tossed out again, the object being simply to have a moist surface. The picture is then taken up and placed face downward in the center of the plate. As soon as it is seen that it adheres to it quite closely the plaster of paris, which has previously been mixed with water until it is smooth and of the consistency of thick cream, is poured in upon it, and in sufficient quantity to fill the plate up to the very top. Here, then, the knife is useful in smoothing it over. At this point, also, a contrivance is arranged for hanging up the plaque in the future. The piece of tape with a curtain ring on one end of it is pressed down in the plaster, where it soon hardens into permanency. As soon as it is found that the plaster is sufficiently hard, the knife can be slipped around the edges of the plate to facilitate the whole turning out well. When this is accomplished the picture will appear as though it had been painted upon the pure white surface of the paste. Should, by any means, the plaster have slipped under the picture, it can be readily wiped off while it is still fresh. The gilt paint is used to make a border about the plaque. It appears well, either as a stiff band or when it is stippled a little.

In the making of these plaques, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, much of their success depends upon the choice of the picture. By far the prettiest one that has so far been seen was a young girl's head, crowned with a wreath of flaming poppies. All else that was particularly noticeable about her were her filmy green draperies. To further offset its beauty, the plaque was hung upon a sage green background.

Cook half a pound of rice in a quart of milk (add a little more milk, if necessary, but only enough to cook the rice). Cook slowly and add a pinch of salt, four ounces of butter, half a pound of sugar, six ounces of well-pounded almonds and the beaten yolks of five eggs. Cool, butter a plain mold (butter it well, else the contents will not come out whole), line it with blanched almonds, halved lengthwise, and pour on the rice. Set the mold in a larger pan of cold water, place in the oven and bake slowly for one hour; then remove from the oven, place in a pan of cold water for a few minutes, then invert onto a round platter. Serve hot with a rich fruit compote.—Ladies' World.

MILLIONS FOR FRUIT

Annual Bill of Chicago for Oranges, Lemons, Etc.

Enormous Outlay of a Large City for the Various Products of Orchards Far and Near—Sources of Supply.

Chicago consumes 25,000 car loads of fruit every year, paying more than $5,000,000 for it. It eats pineapples from Hawaii, oranges from the Mediterranean, apples from Wisconsin and bananas from the West Indies. Every parallel of latitude and every degree of longitude contributes to its tables. There are figs from Smyrna and limes from Italy, grapes from France and winter strawberries from southern Mexico. Steamships sailing 25 miles an hour, refrigerating cars traveling one-third faster, and the universal use of ice and ice machines in all climates have made these things possible for Chicago palates. Chicago markets know no seasons from the coming of the Christmas strawberry from southern Mexico to the browning of its own russet apple in northern Illinois, says the Tribune.

And, incidentally, of all the fruits consumed in Chicago the apple is first in quantity and value. Every section of the east, north and west is drawn upon for the supply, and tens of thousands of barrels soon will begin to crowd the already crowded markets of South Water street.

In the minds of most Chicagoans the fruit trade with California is exaggerated to first place. As a matter of fact, however, more cars of strawberries may come into Chicago in one day from Michigan than come from California in a week. The same is true of Michigan peaches, and the season of the Michigan peach is now coming on in its fullness.

An average of 15 cars of California fruit a day are disposed of the year round in the auction rooms at the Dearborn street bridge. In their order the fruits so shipped rank: Oranges, lemons, pears, peaches, grapes, plums and cherries. These cars range from an orange car, worth $700, down to a load of spoiled fruit that will not bring freight charges. By reason of the long shipments and cost of refrigeration the California fruits, in value, stand above their car numbers by comparison. Scarcely one-fifth of the fruit cars received in Chicago are loaded with California products, but in value these shipments are placed at one-third of the value of Chicago's total receipts.

The California fruit trade in Chicago is perennial. From December to July the orange crop is received, while from May to November the deciduous fruits are coming steadily. No tastes in the market control in the matter of fruit received; the extent of the crops and their relative prices as laid down in Chicago determine whether more pears are sold than peaches or more grapes than cherries.

Of late years, however, the California cherry trade has grown immensely. The fruit reaches the market about the last of March, and it is one of the few California fruits that is not considered "flat" by connoisseurs of the northern-grown article. The California plum, too, has an active market.

But as compared to these, both in flavor and quantity, fruit now coming from Michigan, southern Wisconsin, Ohio and Illinois overshadows them completely.

It begins to do so in June, when the first northern berries begin to come from Illinois. When the Michigan crop ripens a few days later one day's receipts often reach 60 cars or their equivalent quantity. Nearly all of the Michigan berries, of course, come by water.

Following the strawberry come the raspberry and blackberry, and before these are gone, about the last of July, the early peach has arrived from Michigan.

Twenty thousand bushels of peaches from Michigan alone may be landed in one day. Five thousand pickers may have gathered them from the Michigan orchards, and 3,000 men may be needed to receive them and unload them and transport them from the docks at the mouth of the river. One boat may come in with 60,000 baskets, holding one-fifth of a bushel each, and such a picking represents a whole fruit farm of moderate proportions. And from mid-July till the first snows Michigan peaches keep coming.

Concord grapes from Ohio and western New York are in season, and the prices at which the consumer buys a five-pound basket of his grocer often leads him to wonder where the grower got his profits. Often they are as low as ten cents a basket, yet of excellent quality. Cold storage methods have prolonged the life of these grapes until they may be had for Christmas tables.

In the whole fruit business cold storage methods have done wonders for the trade. Apples are kept almost from one harvest to another. Almost every other fruit has its life prolonged for weeks by the storage warehouse. When these houses have been exhausted rapid transit is drawn upon for the supply.

DARE NOT EAT BEEF

Natives of India Starve with Millions of Cattle.

Religious Observances Prevent Them from Gratifying the Cravings of Nature—Famine in Years of Plenty.

In large districts of India to-day millions of cattle could not be sold for 50 cents a head. The country, yellow and parched, has been turned into a desert by the failure of the Monsun rains. There are grass lands and fodder in other parts of India, but the poor animals are too weak to be driven to them, even if there were cattle buyers to take them away; so they die like flies, succumbing to starvation far more quickly than their owners. The thought has never occurred to the 35,000,000 Indian peasantry now suffering from hunger that the cattle would have been a food resource to tide them over the months of crop failure. They have plenty of cattle. Among all the animals of India the various breeds of horned and humped cattle hold the first place. They are the draft animals in the little field of the poorest peasant. All the transportation of the inland roads depends upon them. The household that has not its cow is in the direst poverty.

Suppose these natives, when the signs pointed unmistakably to a season of crop failure, had cured under their hot sun many thousand tons of beef by sun-drying, as jerked beef is prepared in South America, indescribable suffering and thousands of lives would have been saved; but the very idea of making such provision as this against the horrors of famine would be inexpressibly shocking to the 150,000,000 people of India, who base their religious beliefs upon the Vedas. They would never dream of such a profanation of the teachings of Brahminism. They would rather swallow dirt and gnaw roots than eat beef, and yet they are not strict vegetarians, for all eat butter and milk, and also fish and mutton when they can procure them.

The Hindus and those who share with them their religious beliefs are just what history tells us their fathers were, three and twenty centuries ago. The highest law that concerns the Hindu is to eat correctly, and beef is one of the proscribed foods; so with this food resource in every farmyard, prized highly, as it is, by most of the world, the Hindu dies of hunger rather than partake of it. These facts are perhaps as impressive an illustration as can be given of the profound influence which religious injunction and custom have upon the habits, tastes and prejudices and consequently upon the commerce of whole nations.

The value of East Indian cattle for food has been amply demonstrated. The 57,000,000 Mahometans living in India have no qualms or scruples about beef eating. Some years ago we read almost daily for a time of bloodshed between the Mahometans and Hindus of northwest India. Beef was the cause of the incipient warfare. The Hindu neighbors of the Moslems decided that their feelings had been outraged too long by the repugnant spectacle of cattle shambles and beef eating. They resolved to put an end to them, but the undertaking was too large for the comparatively small number of zealots who engaged in it.

In this vast region, so densely peopled that the specter of famine is not far away even in years of plenty, no meats are imported except for European consumption. If there is a partial failure of rice, wheat, maize, barley or the indigenous grains on which the laborer lives, starvation begins at once; and so while India sells to the world every year from $250,000,000 to $350,000,000 worth of products, and buys about three-fourths as much as she sells, her purchases are almost wholly textiles, machinery, railroad material and coal, even when hunger stalks abroad; and the main reason why the great evil of famine is not averted or mitigated by food imports is because the religious tenets of most of the people confine them to the few cereals they raise themselves as the mainstay of life. In one respect, however, religious prejudice is a blessing to the country. It is to the lasting shame of some modern nations that they destroy thousands of barbarous or semi-civilized men and women by selling them poison in the form of the purest qualities of alcoholic liquors; but they find no market for their fiery gin and forty-rod among the hundreds of millions of East Indians, because Islam throughout the world is a vast teetotal society, and among the Hindus to touch liquor is a sign of the lowest caste. Thus certain religions which we do not include among the highest forms have happily reared an insurmountable barrier against one of the worst evils of western civilization.

Hawks an Australian Pest.

Eagle hawks are very destructive in Australia, particularly in the west, and a reward of two shillings is offered by the government for every one destroyed, the claimant having to produce to a justice of the peace the head and talons, which are then to be entirely destroyed in his presence.—Chicago Chronicle.

Bulding Notes.

A gentleman well in touch with the building business of the city remarked this morning that there will this year be the usual amount of work opened up this spring, that there are now no surplus buildings, and while the certainty is that there will be the usual amount of work, the probability is that there will be more.

It is Thought That a Spike Was Put on the Track.

It is now thought that a spike, put on the track for that purpose, caused the wreck near Burlington yesterday. This is what caused the severe wreck on the Coast Line near Fayetteville last Saturday. Doubtless the railroad people are investigating the matter.

JUDGE PURNELL HOBSONIZED.

He Recently Decided That a Woman Can be the Head of the House and the Sisters Love Him.

Raleigh Times.

Judge T. R. Purnell, of this city, in a recent decision held that a woman could be the "head of the house" and this has given him a boom in the feminine market. His stock is way above par. The Judge is now in Richmond attending the Court of Appeals, and The News says that he is flooded with letters from wives and expectants until the matter has almost become a nuisance. The News gives the following samples.

"One fond mother, who has daughters evidently of the latter-day school, wishes to learn if the Judge has marriageable sons. Another wishes to know if he is single, and still another is anxious to learn if he has single brothers who agree with him in his decision recently handed down.

"But one manifested a deeper interest. She wishes to know if the Judge is looking for a wife with a snug fortune and ability to manage in a way to make two people more comfortable.

"Jduge Purnell sympathizes with those who have met popularity with the cranks. Of course, he does not refer to his admirers as cranks or freaks or anything of the kind, but, nevertheless, he is suffering from an affliction of the eyes from reading straight up and down lettering in feminine style, declaring the deepest love and admiration for a man who had the courage to acknowledge the superiority of woman over man."

Blessings Thicken.

New York Journal.

It has been less than a week since the election, and already we see how manifold are the benefits we have acquired by that event.

Ice Trust stock was the very first thing dealt in on the stock exchange on the morning after the election, and exhibited a substantial rise, showing a well-founded confidence in the friendship of the Republican authorities.

Sugar Trust soared next.

Standard Oil stock reached the highest point in its history.

Mr. Addicks blossomed forth as a Senator from Delaware in case the Legislature should prove to be Republican.

Mr. Quay announced that he would be elected to the Senate from Pennsylvania.

The public was informed that the people had voted an unqualified indorsement of all the policies of the McKinley Administration.

The English press hailed the result as the work of the swelling spirit of imperialism throughout the Anglo-Saxon world.

ROBBED THE GRAVE.

A startling incident, of which Mre ohn Oliver, of Philadeldhia, was the ubject, is narrated by him as follows; 'I was in a most dreadful condition tion. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides; no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters: and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at C. E. Holton's drug store.

A close friend—the stingy Quaker.

RHEUMATISM— CATARRH—DISEASES CURED BY B. B. B.

It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments, doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated air, blood purifiers, have failed to do, B. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure ond so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Bs.

For sale by druggists and Howard Gardrer, in Greensboro, at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

8062—Ladies' Eton with Vest.
32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 inch bust.

LADIES' ETON WITH VEST, NUMBER 8062.

This smart Eton is developed in dark green Venetian. The back is closefitting without a center seam, and extends to the waist line. A perfect adjustment is secured by using an under-arm gore.

The fronts are shaped with single bust darts and decorated with small velvet buttons. The rolling collar of velvet forms narrow revers in front. The vest of white corded silk shows polka dots of dark green. It fastens in the center with tiny buttons and is included in the shoulder and under-arm seams. It may, however be made separately on a lining back if preferred.

The velvet plastron and collar match the trimming on the Eton. They may be omitted in favor of linen with a jaunty necktie.

The close-fitting two-piece sleeves have slight fullness on the shoulders, and are trimmed with velvet buttons, which are applied on the back seam.

Stylish Etons in this mode may be developed in covert, broad and ladies' cloth, drap d'ete, Louisine and Henrietta, with velvet, panne or silk for decoration. They usually come en suite with skirts of the same fabric. A change of fancy vests lends variety to the costume.

To make the Eton in the medium size will require one and one-quarter yards of fifty-four inch material for Eton, with one and one-quarter yards of fancy vesting twenty-seven inches wide for vest fronts. The pattern, No. 8062, is cut in sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inch bust measure.

THE TELEGRAM will receive and forward orders for all patterns described in this column. The price is only ten cents for each pattern to cover cost of mailing and handling. In ordering fill blank below and send to The Telegram office:

The knit shawl is here again, for the benefit of the woman with a tendency to shivers.

Soft and fleecy, it is quite artistic, in white wool, garnished with silk, in some delicate color. They are also shown in black wool. Nice wool shawls are also popular. These shoulder shawls are among the things the woman with skillful fingers can easily make for herself and for a Christmas gift to some feminine friend, whose blood is a trifle thin. Any feminine friend will find one of them a decidedly comfortable and convenient adjunct to her wardrobe.

GOOD ADVICE.

The most miserable things in the world are those suffering from dyspepsia and liver complaint. More than seventy-five per cent. of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects: such as sour stomach, sick headache, habitual costiveness, palpitation of the heart, heart-burn, waterbrash, gnawing and burning pains at the pit of the stomach, yellow skin, coated tongue and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up of food after eating, low spirits, etc. Go to your druggist and get a bottle of August Flower for 75 cents. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years, giving satisfaction in every case, which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States in 1868, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price 75 cts.
